JURISDICTION AND VENUE

5 1. This Court has original subject matter jurisdiction over the claims 6 in this action pursuant to 35 U.S.C. §§ 271 and 281, 15 U.S.C. §§ 1114 and 7 1125, as these claims arise under the laws of the United States. The Court has 8 supplemental jurisdiction over the claims in this Complaint which arise under 9 state statutory and common law pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1367(a) because the 10 state law claims are so related to the federal claims that they form part of the 11 same case or controversy and derive from a common nucleus of operative facts.

2. 12 This Court has personal jurisdiction over Defendant because 13 Defendant has a continuous, systematic, and substantial presence within this 14 judicial district. For example, by selling and offering for sale infringing 15 products in this judicial district, including but not limited to selling infringing products directly to consumers and/or retailers in this district and selling into the 16 17 stream of commerce knowing such products would be sold in California and this 18 district, Defendant's acts form a substantial part of the events or omissions giving rise to Oakley's and Luxottica's claims. 19

3. Venue is proper in this judicial district under 28 U.S.C. §§ 1391(b), 1391(d), and 1400(b) because Defendant is a California corporation with its principal place of business located within this district, and because Defendant has committed acts of infringement by selling and offering to sell infringing products in this district and Defendant has a regular and established place of business in this district.

20 the D572 Patent (collectively, the "Asserted Patents").

21 20. Oakley manufactures and sells sunglasses under the mark 22 HOLBROOK bearing distinctive trade dress in the overall design of the 23 sunglasses ("HOLBROOK Trade Dress"). An example of an Oakley product
24 bearing the distinctive HOLBROOK Trade Dress is depicted in the photograph 25 attached as Exhibit 11.

26 21. As a result of Oakley's widespread use and display of the 27 HOLBROOK Trade Dress in association with its eyewear, (a) the public has 28 come to recognize and identify eyewear bearing the HOLBROOK Trade Dress

-4-

as emanating from Oakley, (b) the public recognizes that products bearing the HOLBROOK Trade Dress constitute high quality products that conform to the specifications created by Oakley, and (c) the HOLBROOK Trade Dress has established strong secondary meaning and extensive goodwill.

5 22. The HOLBROOK Trade Dress is not functional. The design 6 features embodied by the HOLBROOK Trade Dress are not essential to the 7 function of the product, do not make the product cheaper or easier to 8 manufacture, and do not affect the quality of the product. The design of the 9 HOLBROOK Trade Dress is not a competitive necessity.

10 23. Subsequent to Oakley's use and adoption of the HOLBROOK
11 Trade Dress, Defendant has developed, manufactured, imported, advertised, 12 and/or sold products that use trade dress that is confusingly similar to the 13 HOLBROOK Trade Dress.

14 24. Luxottica is the world's leading designer, manufacturer, marketer15 and retailer of high quality eyeglass frames and sunglasses.

16 25. Luxottica owns numerous trademark registrations, including U.S.
17 Trademark Registration No. 0595513 for the mark WAYFARER for sunglasses 18 ("the WAYFARER Mark").

19 26. The WAYFARER Mark was registered with the USPTO on 20 September 21, 1954 on the Principal Register. A true and correct copy of the 21 certificate of registration of the WAYFARER Mark is attached hereto as 22 Exhibit 12.

23 27. U.S. Trademark Registration No. 0595513 for the mark 24 WAYFARER has become incontestable through the filing of a declaration of 25 incontestability with the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office.

26 28. The WAYFARER Mark has not been abandoned, canceled, or 27 revoked. The WAYFARER Mark constitutes an enforceable trademark that 28 uniquely identifies sunglasses as emanating from, sponsored by, and/or

1 authorized by Luxottica.

2 29. As a result of the widespread use and display of the WAYFARER 3 Mark as a distinctive trademark identifying sunglasses, (a) the public has come 4 to recognize and identify products bearing the WAYFARER Mark as emanating 5 from Luxottica, (b) the public recognizes that products bearing the 6 WAYFARER Mark constitute high quality products that conform to the 7 specifications created by Luxottica, and (c) the WAYFARER Mark has 8 established strong secondary meaning and extensive goodwill.

9 30. The products sold by Luxottica have been widely advertised,
10 promoted, and distributed to the purchasing public throughout the United States 11 and the world.

12 31. Products sold under the WAYFARER Mark, by reason of their 13 style and design and quality of workmanship, have come to be known to the 14 purchasing public throughout the United States as representing products of high 15 quality, which are sold under good merchandising and customer service 16 conditions. As a result, the WAYFARER Mark, and the goodwill associated 17 therewith, are of great value to Luxottica.

32. By virtue of the wide renown acquired by the WAYFARER Mark, coupled with the national and international distribution and extensive sale of products distributed under this trademark, the WAYFARER Mark has become famous.

33. Defendant has infringed and diluted Luxottica's famous WAYAFARER Mark by using the exact mark in connection with the sale of identical goods, namely sunglasses.

34. Defendant's acts complained of herein have caused Plaintiffs to suffer irreparable injury to their business. Plaintiffs will continue to suffer substantial loss and irreparable injury unless and until Defendant is enjoined from its wrongful actions complained of herein.

35. Plaintiffs are informed and believe, and on that basis, allege that 1 2 Defendant's acts complained of herein are willful and deliberate. 3 FIRST CLAIM FOR RELIEF (Patent Infringement) 4 (35 U.S.C. § 271) 5 6 36.
